SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Jul 18, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) --

House Beautiful will unveil the 2011 Kitchen of the Year, designed by Tyler Florence, renowned chef and TV star, at Rockefeller Plaza in New York on Monday, July 18. For the first time, the Kitchen of the Year can also be experienced online at www.housebeautiful.com/homestyler with Autodesk Homestyler online home design software from Autodesk, Inc. (NASDAQ: ADSK).

A digital, interactive 3D experience of the 2,500-square-foot indoor and outdoor kitchen, outfitted with top-of-the-line products, will be available through Autodesk Homestyler. Visitors to the magazine's Web site can click on any product in the digital kitchen to get more information. They can also choose their items including countertops, cabinets and appliances from top manufacturers including KitchenAid, Kohler, KraftMaid and Sherwin Williams to create their own digital Kitchen of the Year. The Kitchen of the Year event takes place the week of July 18-22, but readers and Tyler Florence fans can return to the Web site to use Homestyler throughout the year. Readers can then save and share their customized designs and generate a shopping list from their custom design to help make their dream kitchen a reality.

"For the past three years, many who visit us at the Kitchen of the Year in Rockefeller Center have said to us, 'I really wish this were my kitchen,' and now for the first time they'll have the tools to make this a reality with Autodesk Homestyler," said Kate Kelly Smith, senior vice president and publishing director, House Beautiful. "Tyler's kitchen - well, two kitchens in fact, since this year we've built a second outdoor kitchen including a working wood oven from Belgard - will be a destination for design devotees, culinary enthusiasts, and visitors looking for new entertaining ideas. Partnering with Autodesk has enabled us to share Tyler's vision with fans online and extend the experience beyond New York City."

Autodesk Homestyler helps bring interior design plans to life through use of its free* online home design software. House Beautiful Kitchen of the Year users have access to a catalog with more than 19,000 decorating and furnishing options to start their designs. With features such as snapshots, users can create 3D high-resolution, near photo-quality images of any home interior design project designed with Homestyler and share the snapshots with friends through social media.

"We're excited to bring the House Beautiful Kitchen of the Year experience online for the first time with Autodesk Homestyler," said Samir Hanna, vice president, Consumer Products Group at Autodesk. "Design enthusiasts and home owners everywhere can unleash their creativity and reinvent the way they plan, design and shop for their next kitchen."
